Pierre Jacob, Paulo Eduardo Oliveira
On the conditional intensity of a random measure

Abstract: We prove the existence of the conditional intensity of a random measure that is absolutely continuous with respect to its mean; when there exists an L-intensity, $p > 1$, the conditional intensity is obtained at the same time almost surely and in the mean.

1